

New Pet Dog Trainers Insurance

As a dog trainer, anytime you instruct, you are accountable as a 'professional' in the eyes of the law.

This means that any opinions, recommendations, and consultancy services that you provide for a fee may leave you vulnerable to a professional negligence claim in the event of an act or omission by you.

For example, if a client claims that they suffered loss and damage as a result of relying on professional advice you have given, you could find yourself suffering severe financial consequences.

Professional indemnity and public liability insurance

Marsh, the world's leading insurance broker and risk advisor, in conjunction with the Association of Pet Dog Trainers Australia, is now arranging a professional indemnity and public liability insurance package, which is available for pet dog trainers throughout Australia.

With premiums starting from as little as $260* per year, you can protect yourself in the event of a professional negligence claim or public liability claim, leaving you with peace of mind to run your business.

How to arrange insurance through Marsh

To arrange professional indemnity and public liability cover, complete the enclosed insurance application form and fax it to (03) 9603 2778.

Income protection insurance

As a separate offering, Marsh can also arrange your accident insurance.
